

Congress of the United States
U.S. House of Representatives
Committee on Small Business
2361 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515-6515

TO: Members, Subcommittee on Contracting and Workforce, Committee on Small Business
Members, Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, Committee on Veterans' Affairs

FROM: Committee Staff

DATE: October 30, 2015

The Small Business Committee's Subcommittee on Contracting and Workforce and the Veterans' Affairs Committee's Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations will meet for a hearing titled, An Examination of Continued Challenges in VA's Vets First Verification Process. The hearing is scheduled to begin at 10:30 A.M., November 4, 2015, in Room 334 of the Cannon House Office Building.

This is a successor hearing to a March 19, 2013 joint hearing held by the Subcommittees titled Consistently Inconsistent: Challenges for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses (2013 Hearing).¹ The 2013 Hearing examined challenges facing service-disabled veteran-owned small businesses (SDVOSBs) seeking federal contracts using both the Small Business Administration (SBA) and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) contracting programs. The hearing was spurred by a report of the Government Accountability Office (GAO) that identified significant problems with the VA's verification program.² This hearing will provide an opportunity for the Subcommittees to receive an update on the status of the verification programs at VA. Rather than explain the VA's verification program in detail, a copy of the memorandum from the 2013 Hearing is attached. Instead, this memorandum will provide a summary of the prior hearing, and then focus on steps taken subsequent to the 2013 Hearing.

I. Summary of the 2013 Hearing

The 2013 Hearing focused on the statutory, regulatory and interpretive differences between the governmentwide contracting program for SDVOSBs established by section 36 of the Small Business Act and the Vets First Program at VA established by the Veterans Benefits, Health Care, and Information Technology Act of 2006.³ It further examined how these differences affect veterans, how effectively the programs operate and how the efficiencies of the programs could be improved.

¹ Consistently Inconsistent: Challenges for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses: Joint Hearing of the Subctte on Contracting and Workforce, Ctte on Small Bus. and the Subctte on Oversight and Investigations, Ctte on Veterans' Affairs, 113th Cong. 80-170 (2013) (hereinafter 2013 Hearing).

² GAO, VETERAN-OWNED SMALL BUSINESSES: PLANNING AND DATA SYSTEM FOR VA'S VERIFICATION PROGRAM NEED IMPROVEMENT 56 (2013) (GAO-13-95) (hereinafter PLANNING AND DATA).

³ Pub. L. No. 109-461, 120 STAT. 3431 (2006) (codified at 38 U.S.C. §§8127-8128).

The hearing consisted of two panels, with the first panel comprised of private sector witnesses. They were: (1) Mr. Joseph Wynn, VET-Force Treasurer, Vietnam Veterans of America, Washington, DC; (2) Mr. Davy Leghorn, Assistant Director, National Economic Division, The American Legion, Washington DC; (3) Mr. Marc Goldschmitt, PMP, CEO, Goldschmitt and Associates, LLC, Reston, VA; and (4) Jonathan T. Williams, Esq., Partner, PilieroMazza, PLLC, Washington, DC.

These private sector witnesses were unanimous in their condemnation of the verification process SDVOSBs and VOSBs had to endure in order to qualify for the VA contracting program. Mr. Leghorn testified that 98 percent of VA denials for SDVOSB status were due to challenges in understanding DVA's regulations related to ownership and control, rather than fraud or international misrepresentation, and that "increasing SBA's role in the appellate process would ensure more consistency between agency decisions and expedite the process."⁴ Mr. Wynn agreed, stating that "SBA would probably have more experience in handling the appeals process. There seems to be no real appeals process at the VA. As I mentioned in my testimony, the same folks that are doing the denial are also the ones you have to go back to if you have a problem. So an independent body [like] the SBA that may be the solution."⁵ Mr. Goldschmitt highlighted that, "[a]s a small business providing services to the Federal government, the current environment [at VA] provides significant challenges to profitability, growth, and survival. The CVE's⁶ interpretations [of regulations] add additional arbitrary and unpredictable hurdles that make it more difficult for me to plan, finance, market, and operate my small business. These CVE interpretations tend to be more minimizing business reality and addressing more the extremes. program denies legitimate small firms an opportunity to compete by forcing SDVOSBs to adhere to extreme interpretations of a regulation."⁷ Mr. Williams testified that although well-intentioned the lack of consistency in the verification process at DVA and the differences between DVA and SBA's regulatory interpretations cause confusion and inefficiency for SDVOSBs.⁸

The second panel's presentation allowed the Subcommittees to receive testimony from government witnesses. These were: (1) Mr. William Shear, Director, Financial Markets and Community Investment, GAO; (2) Mr. A. John Shoraka, Associate Administrator, Office of Government Contracting and Business Development, SBA; and (3) Mr. Tom Leney, Executive Director, Veterans and Small Business Programs, VA.

Mr. Shear indicated that when GAO originally undertook the Planning and Data report, it had been asked to "(1) describe and assess the progress that the [VA] has made in establishing a program to verify the eligibility of [SDVOSB] and [VOSB] on a timely and consistent basis, and (2) describe the key operational and policy issues that VA would need to address should its verification program be implemented government-wide."⁹ However, they rescoped the report to look at VA's strategic planning because "there was not a stable process in place where we could do testing and evaluate how well the process was working."¹⁰ He further confirmed that "we have heard similar types of concerns raised by the first panel. We reached out to these constituencies that represent service-disabled

⁴ 2013 Hearing at 52.

⁵ Id. at 12.

⁶ Center for Verification and Evaluation, then known as the Center for Veterans Enterprise.

⁷ 2013 Hearing at 9.

⁸ Id. at 10.

⁹ Planning and Data at 39.

¹⁰ 2013 Hearing at 23.

veterans, and we know there are a lot of concerns out there and there is a lack of metrics to really evaluate how well VA's current process is working with the changes that have recently been made."¹¹

Mr. Shoraka explained the SBA's two-phased approach to dealing with challenges to SDVOSB status. First, staff from his office investigates the status and issues a decision. If the SDVOSB or another party disagrees with the decision, it is appealed to an independent panel of administrative judges, the SBA's Office of Hearings and Appeals.¹² When asked if it had ever occurred to him that "beyond verification of the veterans you do not need the VA; that you are perfectly capable as the [SBA] of doing this," Mr. Shoraka simply replied "sure."¹³

Mr. Loney testified that VA was aware of the challenges within its verification process as it seeks to prevent fraud and ensure only legitimate SDVOSBs receive certification, and that VA was working with SBA to resolve differences.¹⁴ He claimed to "have overcome many of the challenges and vulnerabilities that were raised by the GAO."¹⁵ However, he also stated that "I would be happy if the SBA were to take this burden on."¹⁶ The hearing closed with the Chairmen committing to work together to address the underlying problems with the VA program.¹⁷

II. Attempted Legislative Solutions

After the conclusion of the hearing, the Chairmen honored that commitment by seeking a legislative solution for the issues raised by the witnesses. On July 31, 2013, Chairman Coffman introduced H.R. 2882, the Improving Opportunities for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses Act of 2013, which was cosponsored by Chairman Hanna.¹⁸ The bill was referred to the Committee on Veterans' Affairs and the Committee on Small Business. On March 5, 2014, the Committee on Small Business marked up the bill and reported it by voice vote with a waiver from the Committee on Veterans' Affairs. The text was then incorporated into H.R. 4435, the Howard P. "Buck" McKeon National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015, and passed the House of Representatives on May 22, 2014. However, the defense authorization that ultimately became law did not include the measure.

Although ultimately not successful, H.R. 2882 attempted to harmonize the SBA program and the Vets First program, while reducing costs. It did so in three ways. First, it unified the definitions of VOSB and SDVOSB for both programs, so that the small variations between the Small Business Act and title 38 could not be used to justify additional disparities.¹⁹ Second, it required that VA transfer its verification responsibilities to the SBA, under a process to be negotiated between the two agencies.²⁰ While VA would have continued to determine whether the individuals asserting ownership were

¹¹ Id.

¹² Id. at 18-19.

¹³ Id. at 24.

¹⁴ Id. at 21.

¹⁵ Id. at 22.

¹⁶ Id. at 26.

¹⁷ Id. at 33.

¹⁸ H.R. 2882, 113th Congress (2013). The bill was also cosponsored by Representatives Jeff Miller, Gerry Connolly, Bill Flores, Sam Graves, Jaime Herrera Beutler, Patrick Murphy, and David Roe.

¹⁹ Id. at §§ 2-3.

²⁰ Id. at § 4.

themselves SDVs, SBA would have assessed the ownership structure of the entity and verified that it was an SDVOSB. As SBA has experience determining whether or not firms are small through an analysis of their ownership structure, this disposition of the responsibilities would have allowed each to focus on its core competencies. Third, it attempted to resolve any appellate issues with the VA procedures by requiring that any challenges to a firm's status, or appeals of the agency determination, would have been heard by the Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA) at SBA.²¹ To fund the work SBA would have performed for VA, the bill required that SBA and VA negotiate a sum that would have been paid by VA out of fees VA collects for its multiple-award schedules. Finally, to resolve any disputes between SBA and VA, H.R. 2882 placed the Office of Office of Management and Budget in the Executive Office of the President in charge of the process.²² The Congressional Budget Office estimated that this move will save an average of $5 million per year, which VA could have then redirected to provide other types of assistance to SDVOSBs.²³ Thus, H.R. 2882 would have facilitated greater clarity, transparency and accountability in SDVOSB determinations.

III. Subsequent GAO Activity

The Committees' commitment to addressing problems with the VA's verification program has remained strong in 114th Congress. In May 2015, GAO committed to further study the issue at the request of Chairman Coffman and Chairman Steve Chabot.²⁴ Specifically, GAO committed to evaluating the following four key questions. These are:

1. What progress has VA made in establishing a program to verify SDVOSBs and VOSBs on a consistent basis?
2. To what extent has VA implemented a quality control system to ensure accurate and timely application processing?
3. What processes has VA established for communicating with applicants and verified businesses and to what extent has it followed its policies and procedures for such communications?
4. Since the Planning and Data report in 2013, what key operational and capacity issues have VA and others identified in relation to potentially expanding VA's verification program government-wide, and what actions, if any, has VA taken to address them?

The hearing on November 4, 2015, will provide GAO with an opportunity to deliver their preliminary findings on each of these issues.

IV. Conclusion

With 16,362 SDVOSBs and 38,013 VOSBs registered with the SBA, and 5,642 SDVOSBs and 1,823 VOSBs verified by VA, there are nearly 50,000 businesses attempting to use the veteran and service-

²¹ Id.

²² Id. at § 5.

²³ <https://www.cbo.gov/publication/45256/>.

²⁴ Letter from Mr. Bill Shear to Chairman Mike Coffman (May 13, 2015) (on file with the Committees).

disabled veteran contracting programs established by Congress.²⁵ Collectively, these companies received nearly $20 billion in federal prime contracts in fiscal year 2014, with nearly $14 billion in awards to SDVOSBs.²⁶ In order to ensure veterans and service-disabled veterans have the opportunities Congress intended, the VA program needs to operate properly.

²⁵ SBA data from the Dynamic Small Business Search tool , available at dsbs.sba.gov. SBA numbers count all SDVOSBs as VOSBs. VA data from VA's Vendor Information Pages, available at <https://www.vip.vetbiz.gov/>. VA does not count SDVOSBs as VOSBs.

²⁶ Data from the Federal Procurement Data System, available at www.fpds.gov.

Congress of the United States
U.S. House of Representatives
Committee on Small Business
2361 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515-6515

TO: Members, Subcommittee on Contracting and Workforce, Committee on Small Business
Members, Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, Committee on Veterans' Affairs

FROM: Committee Staff

DATE: October 30, 2015

The Small Business Committee's Subcommittee on Contracting and Workforce and the Veterans' Affairs Committee's Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations will meet for a hearing titled, An Examination of Continued Challenges in VA's Vets First Verification Process. The hearing is scheduled to begin at 10:30 A.M., November 4, 2015, in Room 334 of the Cannon House Office Building.

This is a successor hearing to a March 19, 2013 joint hearing held by the Subcommittees titled Consistently Inconsistent: Challenges for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses (2013 Hearing).¹ The 2013 Hearing examined challenges facing service-disabled veteran-owned small businesses (SDVOSBs) seeking federal contracts using both the Small Business Administration (SBA) and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) contracting programs. The hearing was spurred by a report of the Government Accountability Office (GAO) that identified significant problems with the VA's verification program.² This hearing will provide an opportunity for the Subcommittees to receive an update on the status of the verification programs at VA. Rather than explain the VA's verification program in detail, a copy of the memorandum from the 2013 Hearing is attached. Instead, this memorandum will provide a summary of the prior hearing, and then focus on steps taken subsequent to the 2013 Hearing.

I. Summary of the 2013 Hearing

The 2013 Hearing focused on the statutory, regulatory and interpretive differences between the governmentwide contracting program for SDVOSBs established by section 36 of the Small Business Act and the Vets First Program at VA established by the Veterans Benefits, Health Care, and Information Technology Act of 2006.³ It further examined how these differences affect veterans, how effectively the programs operate and how the efficiencies of the programs could be improved.

¹ Consistently Inconsistent: Challenges for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses: Joint Hearing of the Subctte on Contracting and Workforce, Ctte on Small Bus. and the Subctte on Oversight and Investigations, Ctte on Veterans' Affairs, 113th Cong. 80-170 (2013) (hereinafter 2013 Hearing).

² GAO, VETERAN-OWNED SMALL BUSINESSES: PLANNING AND DATA SYSTEM FOR VA'S VERIFICATION PROGRAM NEED IMPROVEMENT 56 (2013) (GAO-13-95) (hereinafter PLANNING AND DATA).

³ Pub. L. No. 109-461, 120 STAT. 3431 (2006) (codified at 38 U.S.C. §§8127-8128).

The hearing consisted of two panels, with the first panel comprised of private sector witnesses. They were: (1) Mr. Joseph Wynn, VET-Force Treasurer, Vietnam Veterans of America, Washington, DC; (2) Mr. Davy Leghorn, Assistant Director, National Economic Division, The American Legion, Washington DC; (3) Mr. Marc Goldschmitt, PMP, CEO, Goldschmitt and Associates, LLC, Reston, VA; and (4) Jonathan T. Williams, Esq., Partner, PilieroMazza, PLLC, Washington, DC.

These private sector witnesses were unanimous in their condemnation of the verification process SDVOSBs and VOSBs had to endure in order to qualify for the VA contracting program. Mr. Leghorn testified that 98 percent of VA denials for SDVOSB status were due to challenges in understanding DVA's regulations related to ownership and control, rather than fraud or international misrepresentation, and that "increasing SBA's role in the appellate process would ensure more consistency between agency decisions and expedite the process."⁴ Mr. Wynn agreed, stating that "SBA would probably have more experience in handling the appeals process. There seems to be no real appeals process at the VA. As I mentioned in my testimony, the same folks that are doing the denial are also the ones you have to go back to if you have a problem. So an independent body [like] the SBA that may be the solution."⁵ Mr. Goldschmitt highlighted that, "[a]s a small business providing services to the Federal government, the current environment [at VA] provides significant challenges to profitability, growth, and survival. The CVE's⁶ interpretations [of regulations] add additional arbitrary and unpredictable hurdles that make it more difficult for me to plan, finance, market, and operate my small business. These CVE interpretations tend to be more minimizing business reality and addressing more the extremes. program denies legitimate small firms an opportunity to compete by forcing SDVOSBs to adhere to extreme interpretations of a regulation."⁷ Mr. Williams testified that although well-intentioned the lack of consistency in the verification process at DVA and the differences between DVA and SBA's regulatory interpretations cause confusion and inefficiency for SDVOSBs.⁸

The second panel's presentation allowed the Subcommittees to receive testimony from government witnesses. These were: (1) Mr. William Shear, Director, Financial Markets and Community Investment, GAO; (2) Mr. A. John Shoraka, Associate Administrator, Office of Government Contracting and Business Development, SBA; and (3) Mr. Tom Leney, Executive Director, Veterans and Small Business Programs, VA.

Mr. Shear indicated that when GAO originally undertook the Planning and Data report, it had been asked to "(1) describe and assess the progress that the [VA] has made in establishing a program to verify the eligibility of [SDVOSB] and [VOSB] on a timely and consistent basis, and (2) describe the key operational and policy issues that VA would need to address should its verification program be implemented government-wide."⁹ However, they rescoped the report to look at VA's strategic planning because "there was not a stable process in place where we could do testing and evaluate how well the process was working."¹⁰ He further confirmed that "we have heard similar types of concerns raised by the first panel. We reached out to these constituencies that represent service-disabled

⁴ 2013 Hearing at 52.

⁵ Id. at 12.

⁶ Center for Verification and Evaluation, then known as the Center for Veterans Enterprise.

⁷ 2013 Hearing at 9.

⁸ Id. at 10.

⁹ Planning and Data at 39.

¹⁰ 2013 Hearing at 23.

veterans, and we know there are a lot of concerns out there and there is a lack of metrics to really evaluate how well VA's current process is working with the changes that have recently been made."¹¹

Mr. Shoraka explained the SBA's two-phased approach to dealing with challenges to SDVOSB status. First, staff from his office investigates the status and issues a decision. If the SDVOSB or another party disagrees with the decision, it is appealed to an independent panel of administrative judges, the SBA's Office of Hearings and Appeals.¹² When asked if it had ever occurred to him that "beyond verification of the veterans you do not need the VA; that you are perfectly capable as the [SBA] of doing this," Mr. Shoraka simply replied "sure."¹³

Mr. Loney testified that VA was aware of the challenges within its verification process as it seeks to prevent fraud and ensure only legitimate SDVOSBs receive certification, and that VA was working with SBA to resolve differences.¹⁴ He claimed to "have overcome many of the challenges and vulnerabilities that were raised by the GAO."¹⁵ However, he also stated that "I would be happy if the SBA were to take this burden on."¹⁶ The hearing closed with the Chairmen committing to work together to address the underlying problems with the VA program.¹⁷

II. Attempted Legislative Solutions

After the conclusion of the hearing, the Chairmen honored that commitment by seeking a legislative solution for the issues raised by the witnesses. On July 31, 2013, Chairman Coffman introduced H.R. 2882, the Improving Opportunities for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses Act of 2013, which was cosponsored by Chairman Hanna.¹⁸ The bill was referred to the Committee on Veterans' Affairs and the Committee on Small Business. On March 5, 2014, the Committee on Small Business marked up the bill and reported it by voice vote with a waiver from the Committee on Veterans' Affairs. The text was then incorporated into H.R. 4435, the Howard P. "Buck" McKeon National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015, and passed the House of Representatives on May 22, 2014. However, the defense authorization that ultimately became law did not include the measure.

Although ultimately not successful, H.R. 2882 attempted to harmonize the SBA program and the Vets First program, while reducing costs. It did so in three ways. First, it unified the definitions of VOSB and SDVOSB for both programs, so that the small variations between the Small Business Act and title 38 could not be used to justify additional disparities.¹⁹ Second, it required that VA transfer its verification responsibilities to the SBA, under a process to be negotiated between the two agencies.²⁰ While VA would have continued to determine whether the individuals asserting ownership were

¹¹ Id.

¹² Id. at 18-19.

¹³ Id. at 24.

¹⁴ Id. at 21.

¹⁵ Id. at 22.

¹⁶ Id. at 26.

¹⁷ Id. at 33.

¹⁸ H.R. 2882, 113th Congress (2013). The bill was also cosponsored by Representatives Jeff Miller, Gerry Connolly, Bill Flores, Sam Graves, Jaime Herrera Beutler, Patrick Murphy, and David Roe.

¹⁹ Id. at §§ 2-3.

²⁰ Id. at § 4.

themselves SDVs, SBA would have assessed the ownership structure of the entity and verified that it was an SDVOSB. As SBA has experience determining whether or not firms are small through an analysis of their ownership structure, this disposition of the responsibilities would have allowed each to focus on its core competencies. Third, it attempted to resolve any appellate issues with the VA procedures by requiring that any challenges to a firm's status, or appeals of the agency determination, would have been heard by the Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA) at SBA.²¹ To fund the work SBA would have performed for VA, the bill required that SBA and VA negotiate a sum that would have been paid by VA out of fees VA collects for its multiple-award schedules. Finally, to resolve any disputes between SBA and VA, H.R. 2882 placed the Office of Office of Management and Budget in the Executive Office of the President in charge of the process.²² The Congressional Budget Office estimated that this move will save an average of $5 million per year, which VA could have then redirected to provide other types of assistance to SDVOSBs.²³ Thus, H.R. 2882 would have facilitated greater clarity, transparency and accountability in SDVOSB determinations.

III. Subsequent GAO Activity

The Committees' commitment to addressing problems with the VA's verification program has remained strong in 114th Congress. In May 2015, GAO committed to further study the issue at the request of Chairman Coffman and Chairman Steve Chabot.²⁴ Specifically, GAO committed to evaluating the following four key questions. These are:

1. What progress has VA made in establishing a program to verify SDVOSBs and VOSBs on a consistent basis?
2. To what extent has VA implemented a quality control system to ensure accurate and timely application processing?
3. What processes has VA established for communicating with applicants and verified businesses and to what extent has it followed its policies and procedures for such communications?
4. Since the Planning and Data report in 2013, what key operational and capacity issues have VA and others identified in relation to potentially expanding VA's verification program government-wide, and what actions, if any, has VA taken to address them?

The hearing on November 4, 2015, will provide GAO with an opportunity to deliver their preliminary findings on each of these issues.

IV. Conclusion

With 16,362 SDVOSBs and 38,013 VOSBs registered with the SBA, and 5,642 SDVOSBs and 1,823 VOSBs verified by VA, there are nearly 50,000 businesses attempting to use the veteran and service-

²¹ Id.

²² Id. at § 5.

²³ <https://www.cbo.gov/publication/45256/>.

²⁴ Letter from Mr. Bill Shear to Chairman Mike Coffman (May 13, 2015) (on file with the Committees).

disabled veteran contracting programs established by Congress.²⁵ Collectively, these companies received nearly $20 billion in federal prime contracts in fiscal year 2014, with nearly $14 billion in awards to SDVOSBs.²⁶ In order to ensure veterans and service-disabled veterans have the opportunities Congress intended, the VA program needs to operate properly.

²⁵ SBA data from the Dynamic Small Business Search tool , available at dsbs.sba.gov. SBA numbers count all SDVOSBs as VOSBs. VA data from VA's Vendor Information Pages, available at <https://www.vip.vetbiz.gov/>. VA does not count SDVOSBs as VOSBs.

²⁶ Data from the Federal Procurement Data System, available at www.fpds.gov.

TO: Members, Subcommittee on Contracting and Workforce, Committee on Small Business
Members, Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, Committee on Veterans' Affairs

FROM: Committee Staff

DATE: Thursday, March 12, 2013

The Small Business Committee's Subcommittee on Contracting and Workforce and the Veterans' Affairs Committee's Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations will meet for a hearing titled, Consistently Inconsistent: Challenges for Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Businesses. The hearing is scheduled to begin at 2 P.M., March 19, 2013, in Room 2360 of the Rayburn House Office Building.

The Subcommittees will meet to examine challenges facing service-disabled veteran-owned small businesses (SDVOSBs) seeking federal contracts using both the Small Business Administration (SBA) and Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) contracting programs. Specifically, the Subcommittees will hear testimony regarding the statutory, regulatory and interpretive differences in the two programs and how these differences affect veterans. Additionally, the Subcommittees will look at how effectively the programs operate, and explore ways to improve the efficiencies of the programs.

I. Introduction

Both the SBA and the VA operate procurement programs for SDVOSBs. The SBA program applies to procurements at all agencies other than VA, whereas the VA program applies only to VA contracts. While both programs apply nearly identical statutory definitions of a SDVOSB, both Committees have received complaints that the application of the statutory programs is resulting in disparate decisions. Therefore, this memorandum will discuss the statutory differences between the programs as well as the regulatory and interpretative differences between the programs. Finally, the memorandum will address the operation of the both programs.

II. Statutory Differences in the SDVOSB Contracting Programs

The Veterans Benefits Act of 2003 (VBA) amended the Small Business Act to create a governmentwide procurement program for small businesses,¹ while the Veterans Benefits, Health Care, and Information Technology Act of 2006 (VBHCITA) created the SDVOSB contracting program at VA.² The statutory foundations of the two SDVOSB programs vary in three principal ways. First, the definition of a SDVOSB is slightly different. Second, the scope of the contracts to be awarded differs. Finally, the relationship between the SDVOSB program and other small business contracting programs is different.

¹Pub. L. No. 108-183, Title III, §308, 117 STAT. 2662 (2003) (codified at 15 U.S.C. §657f).

²Pub. L. No. 109-461, 120 STAT. 3431 (2006) (codified at 38 U.S.C. §§8127-8128). The VBHCITA also create a set-aside program for Veteran-Owned Small Businesses (VOSBs). While there is only a subcontracting goal for VOSBs under the Small Business Act, the certification issues described herein are generally applicable to VOSBs except for the lack of a prime contracting certification process at SBA.

With a few important exceptions, the VBA and the VBHCITA use the same definitions, relying on the VA's definitions of veteran or service-disabled veteran (SDV) to determine whether an individual qualifies for the program, and using the Small Business Act definitions of small business.³ This is eminently sensible, as it entrusts to each agency that which the agency has the most experience defining. The only difference occurs when the two concepts are combined in an attempt to define SDVOSBs. Both statutes agree that the term means a small business concern that is at least 51 percent owned by one or more SDVs or, in the case of any publicly owned business, not less than 51 percent of the stock of which is owned by one or more SDVs.⁴ However, there are three critical differences. First, the VBA, but not the VBHCITA, explicitly extends benefits to firms that, "in the case of a veteran with permanent and severe disability, the spouse or permanent caregiver of such veteran."⁵ The discrepancy regarding permanent caregivers is addressed by VA in its regulations, which extends rights to these individuals.⁶ Second, the VBHCITA but not the VBA allows the surviving spouse of a veteran to continue participating as a SDVOSB for up to ten years if, after the death of a veteran, the surviving spouse of such veteran acquires ownership rights.⁷ Third, and perhaps most importantly for the scope of this hearing, the VBA permits self-certification by SDVOSBs, subject to protests, while the VBHCITA requires that VA maintain a database of SDVOSBs that are certified as such by the VA.⁸

In addition to the differences in the applicable definitions, the scope of contracting authority between the two programs is slightly different. The VBA allows any federal agency to restrict competition to SDVOSB companies "if the contracting officer has a reasonable expectation that not less than 2 small business concerns owned and controlled by [SDVs] will submit offers and that the award can be made at a fair market price."⁹ If the contracting officer does not have a reasonable expectation that at least two SDVOSBs will submit offers, but the contracting officer believes that the award may be made to a responsible SDVOSB for a fair and reasonable price that does not exceed $6.5 million in the case of a manufacturing contract or $4 million for all other contracts, the contracting officer may award a sole source contract.¹⁰ Any company receiving a contract pursuant to this authority is limited in the amount that they can subcontract, so that a SDVOSB does not win the contract only to subcontract all of the work to a non-SDVOSB company.¹¹ The VBHCITA allows set-aside contracts under the same circumstances as the VBA, but does not restrict subcontracting and only allows sole source contract up to $5 million.¹²

Finally, the relationship between the SDVOSB contracting program and other contracting authorities differ between the governmentwide program created by the VBA and the VA program created by the VBHCITA. The governmentwide program treats each of the small business contracting programs as equal, and allows the contracting officer to choose the most appropriate program for any given contract.¹³ However, VBHCITA gives preference to SDVOSBs before awarding contracts pursuant to the other contracting programs.¹⁴

³ Section 3(q) of the Small Business Act defines "veteran" in accordance with 38 U.S.C. § 101(2) and service-disabled veteran is defined per 38 U.S.C. § 101(16). VBHCITA adds the definition of small business found in Section 3(a) of the Small Business Act to 38 U.S.C. § 8127(k)(1).

⁴ Small Business Act, § 3(q)(2)(A); 38 U.S.C. § 8127(k)(2). c.f., The VBHCITA actually requires that the service disabled veterans "are unable to manage the daily business operations of such concern," but in regulation this has been interpreted to require the management of the daily business operations. 38 C.F.R. §74.1.

⁵ Small Business Act, § 3(q)(2)(B).

⁶ 38 C.F.R. §74.1.

⁷ 38 U.S.C. § 8127(h).

⁸ Small Business Act, § 36(q)(2)(B). 38 U.S.C. § 8127(f).

⁹ 15 U.S.C. § 657f(b).

¹⁰ 15 U.S.C. § 657f(b). The statute provides dollar thresholds of $5 million and $3 million, respectively, but these have been adjusted for inflation pursuant to 41 U.S.C. § 1908.

¹¹ Small Business Act, § 46.

¹² 38 U.S.C. § 8127(c)-(d).

¹³ 15 U.S.C. § 637 note; see Committee on Small Business, "Small Business Act Programs for Small Federal Contractors" (2013) available at

While these three types of differences may seem minor, the result is that a firm may qualify as a SDVOSB at VA but not for a contract at another agency, or vice versa. As will now be discussed, this statutory divergence is only magnified through regulatory differences.

III. Regulatory and Interpretative Differences

SBA and VA have both received criticism alleging that the regulatory differences between the two SDVOSB programs exceed those differences that would be expected given the statutory discrepancies. Thus, SBA and VA have undertaken joint review of the regulations governing each program and produced a chart that provides a section-by-section comparison of the existing regulations each believes are relevant (VA Chart).¹⁵ VA has stated that this analysis demonstrates that there are only three differences between the regulations: (1) VA allows surviving spouses to inherit limited benefits; (2) VA requires change of ownership notification; and (3) VA has a program for veteran-owned small businesses (VOSB).¹⁶ Furthermore, VA stated that they were aware of only one interpretive difference in the application of the regulations, and that concerned a question of whether SDVs control a company with a three-person board if one SDV and one non-SDV could align against a second SDV.¹⁷ Based on this, the conflict would appear minimal at best. However, SBA has stated “while it is true that the wording of the regulations pertaining to the VA’s and SBA’s eligibly [sic] requirements is similar, there are some key differences in interpretations.”¹⁸ This memorandum will now briefly discuss the foundation of these differences.

The VA Chart compares three sources of regulations – VA’s SDVOSB regulations, SBA’s SDVOSB regulations, and SBA’s 8(a) business development (8(a)) program regulations.¹⁹ This framing of the discussion itself presents two problems. First, looking at the regulations regarding the 8(a) program may be informative, but should not be controlling since the programs have different statutory purposes. The 8(a) program is a time-limited program intended to assist socially and economically disadvantaged individuals trying to establish successful small businesses, and contracting is used as a tool in the development process.²⁰ In contrast, both SDVOSB programs are contracting programs intended to help the federal government meet its statutory goals of awarding at least 3 percent of all prime contract and subcontract dollars to SDVOSBs.²¹ When VA patterned its rules off of the 8(a) program regulations, it failed to recognize this dichotomy. This has led to situations such as that where VA requires SDVOSB living in community property states to have their spouses preemptively relinquish any interest in the firm lest the spouse be considered an owner, even though VBHCITA will allow the same spouse to qualify for the program after the SDV’s death – a requirement not found in SBA’s SDVOSB program.²² Additionally, like the 8(a) program, VA requires that SDVs receive the majority of the pay or profits of the firm.²³ SBA has not included this requirement in the SDVOSB http://smallbusiness.house.gov/uploadedfiles/small_business_act_programs_for_small_federal_contractors.pdf

(hereinafter “Small Business Act Programs”) for information on the other federal contracting programs.

¹⁴ 38 U.S.C. § 8127(i).

¹⁵ On file with the Committee.

¹⁶ Comments of Tom Leney, Executive Director of the Veterans and Small Business Programs for VA, to VET-Force (Feb. 12, 2013).

¹⁷ Id.

¹⁸ GAO, VETERAN-OWNED SMALL BUSINESSES: PLANNING AND DATA SYSTEM FOR VA’S VERIFICATION PROGRAM NEED IMPROVEMENT 56 (2013) (GAO-13-95) (hereinafter PLANNING AND DATA).

¹⁹ 38 C.F.R. § 74; 13 C.F.R. §§ 125.8-125.29; 13 C.F.R. § 124. See Small Business Act Programs at 4-5 for additional information on this program.

²⁰ 13 C.F.R. § 124.1.

²¹ Small Business Act, § 15(g); 38 U.S.C. § 8127(c).

²² 13 C.F.R. § 121.105(k); 38 C.F.R. § 74.3(f); supra note 7.

²³ 38 C.F.R. § 74.3(d)

regulations, although distribution of profits would be considered in analyzing control, because pay itself is not always determinative of control.

Perhaps more egregiously though, the VA Chart excludes the relevant SBA's regulations that address issues fundamental to whether a SDV owns and controls a firm and whether the firm is itself small, which are found at 13 C.F.R. § 121. These regulations provide the underpinnings for the ownership and control provisions found in SBA's SDVOSB and 8(a) programs. For example, it is this additional section of regulation that tells firms how stock ownership will be used to determine control of a company, and how board composition affects this calculus²⁴ – the very situation VA admitted caused interpretive differences.²⁵ However, these regulations go far beyond that one example – they address when agreements to act in the future will be given present effect, how to treat companies with common management, companies with substantially identical business or economic interests, companies spun off from other companies, joint ventures, companies that are unduly reliant on an ostensible subcontractor, companies with franchise and license agreements, or companies where the totality of the circumstances indicate that the business is not independently owned and controlled.²⁶ To attempt to determine if a firm is a SDVOSB without examining it in light of these regulations belies VBHCITA's direction to use SBA's definition of a small business, because these are the regulations that define whether a firm is small.²⁷

This had led to bright line rules at VA that do not exist at SBA. For example, VA will deny SDVOSB status if ownership in the entity carries with it the requirement that a right of first refusal to purchase the SDV's ownership interest will be offered to another owner or third party.²⁸ While SBA does consider agreements regarding transfer of ownership, it looks at each agreement to determine whether its terms mean that the SDV does not unconditionally control the company. Similarly, VA requires that that at least one SDV who "manage[s] the applicant or participant must devote full-time to the business during the normal working hours of firms in the same or similar line of business."²⁹ SBA does not require this, as long as SDVs can prove actual ownership and control over day-to-day decisions.

Indeed, the regulatory and interpretive differences are being borne out by case law. Within SBA, any appeal regarding a firm's size or status is heard by the Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA), a body of administrative judges that provides final agency action through published decisions. Recently, OHA identified fourteen cases:

in connection with SDVO set-asides where (1) OHA determined the subject business concern was not small and thus was ineligible for the contract at issue, and (2) had the [VA regulations] been the sole governing rules, the business concern would have been eligible for the contract. In each of these 14 cases, the different outcome is owed to the operation of SBA's affiliation rule at 13 C.F.R. § 121.103. The affiliation rule, an integral part of small business size analysis, is not a part of the DVA's SDVO status regulations.³⁰

²⁴ 13 C.F.R. § 121.103(c). For an in depth discussion of affiliation and control issues, see Committee on Small Business, "What is a Small Business for Purpose of Federal Contracting?" 6-16 (2013) available at <http://smallbusiness.house.gov/resources/committee-publications.htm>.

²⁵ Supra note 17.

²⁶ 13 C.F.R. §§ 121.103(a)(5); 121.103 (d)-(i).

²⁷ Supra note 3.

²⁸ VA, Verification Assistance Brief – Transfer Restrictions available at <http://www.va.gov/osdbu/veteran/transferRestrictionsBrief.asp>.

²⁹ 38 C.F.R. § 74.4(c)(4).

³⁰ Email from SBA to Committee Staff, "OHA decisions on Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Status and Size Cases," (Feb. 12, 2013). The cases are: Size Appeal of Chu & Gassman, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-5394 (2012); Size Appeal of Chu & Gassman, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-5344 (2012); Size Appeal of EarthCare Solutions, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-5183 (2011); Size

These cases should not be seen as an exhaustive list, since OHA does not have the ability to review cases that VA denies, nor does OHA see each case that VA approves. However, it does illustrate how different applications of regulations by even the most well-intentioned parties can lead to regulatory and interpretive discrepancies.

IV. Operational Issues

Both SBA and VA processes for certifying SDVOSBs are imperfect. As previously mentioned, SBA relies upon a process of self-certification. If a contracting officer, SBA, or an interested party believes that the firm does not qualify, they may raise a protest to the SBA Director of the Office of Government Contracting (DGC).³¹ The DGC then has 15 days to investigate and issue a decision.³² Appeals of the DGC's decision are heard by OHA and decided in 15 days, at which time a published decision is made publicly available.³³ While this process has the advantage of allowing nearly 13,000 SDVOSBs to quickly begin competing for contracts, it also leaves open the door for fraud.³⁴ Indeed, GAO previously recommended that the relevant parties expand "the use of the VA VetBiz 'verified' database governmentwide for purposes of validating all SDVOSB eligible firms for contracting."³⁵ However, VA has previously stated that such a program would cost nearly $100 million in annually, and GAO more recently tempered the recommendation, stating that "an expansion of VA's authority to address government-wide program problems should not be undertaken until VA demonstrates that its process is successful in reducing its own SDVOSB program's vulnerability to fraud and abuse."³⁶

In contrast, VA's SDVOSB program has 4,102 SDVOSB currently certified in its database, each of which must be certified yearly.³⁷ Additionally, in fiscal year 2012, VA received 4,900 new initial applications for both the SDVOSB and VOSB program.³⁸ VA uses over 200 full time equivalents and spends $33 million a year running a four step certification process after an application is submitted:

Appeal of Specialized Veterans, LLC, SBA No. SIZ-5138 (2010); Size Appeal of A1 Procurement, LLC, SBA No. SIZ-5121 (2010); Size Appeal of J.M. Waller Associates, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-5108 (2010); Size Appeal of DooleyMack Government Contracting, LLC, SBA No. SIZ-5086 (2009); Size Appeal of DooleyMack Government Contracting, LLC, SBA No. SIZ-5085 (2009); Size Appeal of Blue Cord Construction, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-5077 (2009); Size Appeal of Taylor Consultants, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-5049 (2009); Size Appeal of Heritage of America, LLC, SBA No. SIZ-5017 (2008); Size Appeal of Mission Solutions, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-4828 (2006); Size Appeal of B & M Construction, Inc., SBA No. SIZ-4805 (2006) Size Appeal of Catapult Technology, Ltd., SBA No. SIZ-4795 (2006).

³¹ 13 C.F.R. § 125.24-25.

³² 13 C.F.R. § 125. 25-27.

³³ 13 C.F.R. § 134-514.

³⁴ SDVOSB numbers are taken from the SBA's Dynamic Small Business Search tool, available at www.dsbs.sba.gov; for information on fraud, see, e.g. GAO, CASE STUDIES SHOW FRAUD AND ABUSE ALLOWED INELIGIBLE FIRMS TO OBTAIN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN CONTRACTS (2009)(GAO-10-108) (hereinafter CASE STUDIES).

³⁵ CASE STUDIES at 21.

³⁶ GAO, SDVOSB PROGRAM: VULNERABILITY TO FRAUD AND ABUSE REMAINS 2(2012) (GAO-12-697).

³⁷ www.vip.vetbiz.gov; 38 C.F.R. § 74.15; c.f. <http://www.va.gov/osdbu/faqs/verification.asp> (recertification is required every two years).

³⁸ PLANNING AND DATA at 44.

- VA employees screen it to ensure that it meets the minimum eligibility requirements;
- VA contractors conduct an initial evaluation and make a preliminary recommendation for approval, denial or additional review;
- VA contractors and employees review the initial recommendation, and if necessary, conduct site visits; and
- VA supervisors make a formal determination and issue a letter decision to the applicant.³⁹

This process takes approximately 85 days, and 61 percent of applicants are accepted.⁴⁰ Those that are rejected may appeal the decision through a Request for Consideration, which is conducted by the VA’s Office of General Counsel.⁴¹ Requests for reconsideration are granted on 48 percent of appeals, but generally take an additional 147 days. In contrast with SBA’s process where appeals are decided by independent judges “where the standard of review is whether the determination of eligibility was based on a clear error of fact or law or whether the decision was arbitrary, capricious or contrary to law[, VA] has no such appellate procedure.”⁴² VA’s decisions are not published, and do not represent legal precedent.

GAO and the federal courts have taken issue with VA’s process. GAO recently found that while “VA has made progress toward reducing its vulnerability to fraud and abuse,” the agency’s strategic planning and data capabilities necessary to prevent that fraud remain inadequate.⁴³ The Court of Federal Claims (COFC), when examining transfer restrictions and appeals under the VA process, found that VA’s appeals process does not allow “basic procedural due process” and that the examination “contravened the minimal requirements for informal adjudication set forth in Section 555 of the [Administrative Procedures Act (APA)].”⁴⁴ While the GAO finding highlighted the lack of long term planning and data systems that allow VA to monitor applications and processes to ensure consistence, the COFC holdings go to a more crucial question – whether the verification system is able to address the tension between providing due process to SDVs firms and preventing fraudulent contracting.

V. Issues Before the Subcommittees

a. Statutory, Regulatory, and Interpretive Discrepancies

The Subcommittees have long heard SDVOSBs complain of discrepancies between the SBA and VA SDVOSB contracting programs. These discrepancies usually focus on the treatment of spouses, requirements related to full time employment, organization matters such as operating agreements and by-laws, definitions of unconditional ownership, and restrictions on the sale of ownership interests. The Subcommittees will explore to what extent these and other discrepancies are statutory, regulatory, or interpretive. To the extent that the differences are statutory, input is sought on whether legislative changes are necessary to ensure consistent eligibility determinations. If the discrepancies are regulatory, then the Subcommittees wish to examine whether there is a statutory basis for the regulatory differences, whether 8(a) program regulations provide a suitable counterpart for the VA regulations, and how regulations could be further harmonized. The Subcommittees recognize that even the clearest regulations will leave open questions for agency interpretation. Therefore, the Subcommittees also wish to explore how the SBA and VA can reconcile interpretive differences in the implementation of the programs.

³⁹ PLANNING AND DATA at 8.

⁴⁰ Id. at 14, 44.

⁴¹ Id. at 44; supra note 16. VA’s regulations require a decision in 60 days. 38 C.F.R. §74.11.

⁴² PLANNING AND DATA at 56.

⁴³ Id. at 33-34.

⁴⁴ Miles Construction, LLC v. United States, No. 12-597C 13, 25 (Fed. Cl. 2013); see also KWV, Inc. v. United States, No. 12-882C (Fed. Cl. 2013).

b. Fraud Prevention

The two programs offer a stark contrast in their approach to balance fraud prevention against cost and procedural efficiencies. The Subcommittees will explore ways to decrease the risk of fraudulent firms receiving contracts, while remaining mindful that the legitimate beneficiaries of these programs are small businesses with limited resources. The Subcommittees wish to examine both pre-award and post-award preventative measures, as well as whether contractual terms such as the limitation subcontracting clause may prevent some of the more egregious behavior.

c. Appellate Processes

Mindful that clear standards, binding precedents, and transparency are among the keys to a successful program, the Subcommittees will examine whether APA protections need reinforcement in the VA process.

d. GAO Findings

Given GAO's recommendations for the improvement of the VA program, and GAO's criticisms of the SBA self-certification program, the Subcommittees wish to explore ways each agency can address these findings.

VI. Conclusion

SDVOSBs received $12.2 billion in federal prime contracts in fiscal year 2012, and 27.5 percent of those contracts were awarded by the VA.⁴⁵ Therefore, the government needs to ensure that these dollars are spent with eligible firms, and that the benefit of the SDVOSB contracting programs is enjoyed by SDVs. This goal will only be met if the two primary programs for awarding contracts to SDVOSBs operate in an efficient, transparent, and compatible manner.

⁴⁵ Federal Procurement Data System, available at www.fpds.gov.